Shattered Lands takes place in and around the city-state of Draj, ruled by the sorcerer-king Tectuktitlay.

What Comes with This Game?
In addition to this rule book, your game box should contain the game disks and a data card. This rule book explains how to play, and gives you valuable reference information on characters, monsters, spells, and psionics. The disks contain the game. Install the disks by following the instructions listed on the data card.

Copy Protection
There is no physical copy protection on your Shattered Lands disks, so please make copies and put the originals away for safekeeping.

To assure that you have a legitimate copy, there are copy protection questions during the game. Find the indicated word in this rule book, type the correct answer, and press Enter. Do not count headings.

Using the Mouse
You need a mouse for this game. A note to novice users: throughout this book, the term “click” means move the cursor to the desired area and press either the left or right mouse button. “Right-click” means move the cursor to the desired area and press the right mouse button. “Left-click” means move the cursor to the desired area and press the left mouse button. Note that you can hit Esc to exit any menu in the game.

Using the Keyboard
Operations in this game are designed for the mouse, but certain functions do have keyboard commands. See the “Hot Keys” section on page 92 or the data card for a complete list.

Getting Started Quickly with a Pregenerated Party
A saved game containing a pre-built party comes with your game. To get right into the game without creating your own party, select START GAME from the Start Window. The game automatically loads the pre-built party, and you immediately enter the game.

Mines played out, rendering metal extremely rare and valuable. Scarcer still were any sources of water. The creatures of Athas were twisted by the free use of magic. They constantly adapted to the harsh conditions. New monsters emerged from the deep desert to plague the remnants of man.

The World of Dark Sun
Athas, the world of Dark Sun, was once as pleasant as any other. But, after many thousands of years, powerful mages found ways to gain power through draining the planet’s vitality. At their zenith, these wizards caused the sun to transform from a pleasant yellow glow to a raging crimson fireball on the horizon. The seas evaporated and were replaced by huge basins of silt.

Now the only stable concentrations of humanity are in tightly controlled city-states. Without exception, these are ruled by vicious sorcerer-kings — the last remnants of the wizards who depleted Athas. These kings call themselves gods and rule through a religious organization known as the templars. Their rule is uniformly harsh and capricious, and a large proportion of the populace is enslaved. Only the strongest can feel any measure of safety because the templars can condemn anyone without a trial.

The few places with any freedom are isolated villages founded by escaped slaves. Though free, life in the wastelands is precarious. Water supplies can fail, marauding monsters can devastate a village, and slavers are a constant threat. Until these tiny villages can look beyond day-to-day survival and ally with one another, they are unlikely to survive more than a few years.

A saved game containing a pre-built party comes with your game. To get right into the game without creating your own party, select START GAME from the Start Window. The game automatically loads the pre-built party, and you immediately enter the game.
I am Jareth, an itinerant bard, lately of Draj. I had the dubious honor of spending time condemned to the arena — a noble whom I poisioned regretfully survived. Thankfully, my family was able to bribe a templar with some magic fruit.

While locked in the slave pens, I was able to learn about the other slaves' lives. These illuminate the great challenges of surviving in Draj. The slave most philosophical about his plight was a half-giant named Gareth. A gladiator of some repute, he had won many matches for the noble house of Tahuactl. He also had a misguided loyalty to his master. Thus when a templar came and suggested he lose his next match, Gareth broke the templar's neck. In return, his master declared this an escape attempt and condemned him to die in the royal slave pens. He is still not bitter, but now seeks to escape to freedom.

One of the most bizarre prisoners is the thri-kreen, Tarim. She had been hunting city troops on the salt flats west of Draj, when she was trapped by a powerful templar. Rather than kill her outright, the templar sent her to the arena, so that her death could entertain the masses. While she doesn't mind the fight, she misses the hunt and the freedom of the wasteland.

Selucus was a favorite of the sorcerer-king, destined to become one of the great gladiators of his time. He was pampered and allowed to spend his time unescorted in the city. Alas, his brilliance led him to temptation. The Veiled Alliance convinced him to learn the ways of the preservers. Foolishly, he set aside his gladiator's weapons and took to the arcane path of magic.

His masters were shocked and condemned him to the slave pens. I believe they hope to force him to return to his gladiator skills to survive. However, I am sure he will not do so until he has mastered the spells of the preserver.

The beautiful Saria is the offspring of a foolish human slave girl and a roguish elven caravan master. Her father left for other cities before she was born. Saria spent her youth on the street, stealing to survive. Before this life could wear her down, she was caught picking a preserver's pocket. He took her out of the city and trained her in the east, near the volcano. She discovered how to call on the spirits of earth, as well as how to master the preserver's dangerous art. She might have stayed forever, but a slaver band captured her and killed her benefactor. At the auction block, she used her spells to slay a templar. Now she lives in the pens, seeking a way back to the wasteland.

Those condemned to slavery without connections such as mine can only find freedom by fleeing into the wilderness. Travellers tell me of whole villages of freed slaves, eking out an existence near small watering holes. Individually, these villages are so weak that a city patrol or band of raiders could wipe them out with ease.

There are very few slaves that have any planning or leadership ability. I believe that a strong personality could unify them into a dangerous force. I know that the Drajian templars are beginning to share this view. I have heard rumors of a punitive expedition to clear the wastes of these villages all the way to the Silt Sea.
HOW TO PLAY
SHATTERED LANDS

To start the game from the main menu, select START GAME. You are supplied with a pregenerated party in case you wish to begin adventuring immediately. Otherwise, create a party by selecting CREATE CHARACTERS. See "Creating Your Party" on page 8.

By default, only the leader of your party appears on the map. The other three characters appear whenever combat is initiated. However, if you like, you may also toggle the Collapse Party icon from the Game Menu to have all four characters appear at all times. See "Game Menu" on page 16.

At the start of the game, your characters find themselves in an arena in Draj. To escape — and escape they must — they must battle their way to freedom. If you want them to survive past the first battle, here are some things you should know.

Adventuring and Combat

While your party adventures on Athas, use the mouse to direct their movements and actions. The mouse has three modes:

- Walk
- Attack
- Look

Right-click to change between these modes. Notice that the cursor cycles through the icons each time you right-click. To make a selected action happen, left-click. For example, if you have the “Walk” mouse icon, left-click to make your characters walk from one location to another.

To scroll the screen, move the mouse cursor in the direction you wish to move the screen. The screen scrolls in the direction selected until you move the cursor away from the screen edge, or until you reach the edge of the map. NPCs do not move unless the mouse pointer is in Walk mode. Note that the mouse pointer is temporarily replaced by an hourglass when the game is processing your commands.

Whenever you use an icon to target, aim with the upper-left corner of the icon.

Walk

Use the mouse pointer to find the area you want the party to walk to. Left-click on that location with the Walk icon. If it is possible to get there, the party takes the most direct route to do so. If you ask them to do something impossible or suicidal, like walk into a lava pit, the icon changes to the Can’t Walk icon, and the party waits until you make a more sensible request.

You may also move your characters around using the arrow keys on the numeric keypad.

When combat is initiated by one of the two attack icons explained below, use the Walk icon to attack an opponent by clicking on the target. The character walks to the target and automatically attacks it.

Attack

There are two ways to attack enemies in SHATTERED LANDS. They are Hand-to-H and and Ranged.

There is no need to switch back and forth between H and and Ranged attacks manually; simply ready both types of weapons — the computer will decide which icon/weapon can be used.

Notice that the Hand-to-H and Attack icon only works when your character is adjacent to an enemy. Click the icon on the enemy and the character will attack it with his or her readied weapon(s). A character can ready two one-handed weapons, one in each hand. Rangers and characters with high Dexterity do so at no penalty. Others use the second weapon at a disadvantage. If the character is not adjacent, the Invalid version of the icon appears.

The Ranged Attack icon only works when the enemy is at a distance and the character has a readied missile weapon and/or ammunition. If the enemy is out of range, the icon changes to the Invalid version. This means the target is not a valid target and cannot be attacked.

Look

You can examine objects by left-clicking on them when you are in Look mode. If you can use the item, talk to it, or pick it up, a box appears with a summary and with buttons showing what options you have. If only one of these options is available (for example, you can only open doors, never talk to them or pick them up) it will happen automatically instead of displaying this box.

When you are in combat with a monster, you can use the Look icon to see basic information about your opponent. This information includes: the type of monster it is, its current state (casting, charmed, held, petrified, etc.), and a hit point bar indicating what proportion of its hit points remain.

You can also use the Look icon on a party member to bring up the View Character screen.

Talk

When you click the Look icon on someone or something you can talk to, you see the Talk button. Click on the Talk button to begin a conversation.

Use

To use an object, click on the Use button. Some objects may be used on other objects. For example, to use a pickaxe, click on it, select the Use button, and then click the pickaxe on a pile of rock. The rock breaks apart instead of displaying this box.

Pick Up

To take an object, click on the Pick Up button. The cursor becomes a graphic representation of the object. Clicking the object on a character icon places it into that character’s backpack; otherwise, the object may be carried around as the cursor. Clicking on an open area drops the object on the ground. You can only carry one item at a time on the mouse pointer.
Character Interaction

NPCs (non-player characters) are characters that your party interacts with in the course of the game. Some NPCs have their own agendas and initiate conversations with the party. To speak to an NPC, click the Look icon over the character. To start a conversation, click on the Talk button when it appears in the options box. One or two windows appear. The upper window shows a portrait of the NPC and what that character is saying. The lower window lists the responses you may make. To select a response, you can either highlight the response you wish to make and left-click or use the up and down arrows to highlight the desired response. Pressing Enter selects it.

Conversations occur between the NPC and the leader of the party. Even though the leader may say “I...,” he or she speaks for the party.

Characters That Join Your Party

Many NPCs inhabit Athas. As you adventure, these people provide information to help your party continue its journey. They do not enter your party, though they may follow it or lead it somewhere.

Camping

Camping allows you to rest. Rest is necessary to recover from battles and to regain spells and psionic points. Safe places to rest are depicted by a fire ring. To camp, move the Look icon over the fire ring and left-click. As you rest, characters with cure spells automatically cast them on wounded characters. Psionic Strength Points are fully restored, as well as all the spells that spellcasters can cast.

Training

When your characters go up in levels, they may be eligible to learn a new spell or more psionic skills. If so, a box appears with all the icons depicting the spells or psionics you may learn. To toggle between different spell levels/psionic disciplines, click the icon on the lower-left corner of the box. To pick a new psionic or spell, click on its icon. Press DONE when you’re finished.

Spells and psionics are often the deciding factor between winning and losing a battle. Knowing how to cast spells and use psionics is a very important skill, and should be learned early on.

The first step in casting a spell or using a psionic is to select it in the Cast Spells/Use Psionics screen. After you select the spell or psionic power, the cursor becomes the icon you selected. To abort, right-click once. Some spells or psionics (healing spells, for example) can be cast directly from this screen by clicking the spell icon on the target character. Other spells and psionics automatically return you to the regular game screen.

Refer to “Cast Spells/Use Psionics” on page 15 for detailed instructions.

Once spells have been cast, you may also right-click on the Dark Sun icon to bring up a box displaying the last five spell and psionics icons used. This provides quick access to the most frequently used spells.

Creating Characters

To create your own characters, select CREATE CHARACTERS from the main menu. The main menu is the screen that has the following options:

START GAME
CREATE CHARACTERS
LOAD SAVED GAME
EXIT TO DOS

After selecting CREATE CHARACTERS, you see the View Character screen with four empty character slots. It has six icons along the bottom of the screen: View Character, View Inventory, Cast Spells/Use Psionics, Current Spell/Effects, the Game Menu button, and the Return to Game button. For now, leave these icons alone. You can come back to them after you create your party.

Right-click on an empty character slot. A short menu appears with these options:

NEW
CANCEL

NEW allows you to create an entirely new character.
ADD allows you to add a previously created character.
CANCEL closes this menu.
now available. This is because humans can be any class. Other races, however, are limited in their class options. Halflings, for example, cannot be preservers.

While humans can only have one class, other races are eligible for more than one class. When a character has two or three classes, he or she is referred to as multi-classed. For example, dwarves can have one, two, or three classes.

Keep in mind that, when multi-classing, some classes are unavailable when others have been chosen. For example, a character cannot be a cleric and a druid at the same time.

In addition, when characters are multi-classed, they advance in experience and hit points much more slowly than single-class characters. This is because multi-class characters divide their experience points evenly among the classes.

For reference information on classes, see “Character Classes” on page 21.

Psionic Disciplines and/or Clerical Spheres

This lists the various psionic disciplines or clerical spheres that your character is eligible for, and allows you to choose among them. Left-clicking on VIEW SPHERES or VIEW PSIONICS toggles you between the list of psionic disciplines and the list of clerical spheres.

Psionicists can specialize in all three psionic disciplines: psychokinesis, psychometabolism, and telepathy. All other characters can only choose one of these disciplines. For more about these disciplines, refer to “Psionicists” on page 25.

Clerics can choose any one of the four clerical spheres: air, earth, fire, and water. For a description of the four spheres, refer to “Clerics” on page 23.

The Die
Clicking on the die generates a random set of values for the character's statistics.

Character Data
To improve an ability, left-click on its adjacent box. The value increases by one. Right-click to decrease the value. This allows you to match a character’s statistics with those of a favorite role-playing character.

Similarly, you can alter the hit point value (HP) and the character’s alignment by clicking on the small gray boxes next to those options. For a thorough description of these statistics, refer to “Other Characteristics” on page 26.

Your character has been given a random name. If you want to change it, left-click on the name. A cursor appears where you clicked. Delete the previous name and type in the name of your choosing.

When you are satisfied with the character you have created, click on DONE and continue creating characters until you have a complete party of four.
Adding Previously Created Characters
You can also add previously created characters to your party. When you are at the View Character screen, right-click on an empty character slot, and choose ADD. Click on the character name of a previously generated character to have him or her appear in your party.

Modifying Your Party
Once you have created your party, you may decide that you want to make minor alterations. Go to the View Character screen and right-click on the character you want to alter. You’ll notice that the menu now reads:

- EDIT
- DROP
- DUAL

EDIT returns to the character generation screen. You may make any changes you wish to the character, as during generation. This option is only valid before the character first goes adventuring on Athas. After that, the option changes to EDIT NAME only.

DROP removes a character from the party and puts him or her on disk. If you change your mind, you can pick up this character later with ADD.

DUAL is only available when viewing a human character, because only humans may become dual-classed. You must be at least third level in your current class before you can dual class. Selecting this option allows you to choose a new class. See the section on "Character Classes" on page 21 for more information on dual-class characters.

View Character
The View Character screen shows your party. When you highlight a party member by left-clicking on his or her character box, the character's stats and other vital information appear on the right side of the screen.

Alongside each character box are two small buttons, one for Computer Control and one for selecting the party Leader. Click on Computer Control to place the character's actions under control of the computer during combat. Click on Leader to make that character the party's leader when walking and interacting with Non-Player Characters (NPCs).

Character Boxes
If you right-click on a character box with a character in it, you get the following menu:

- EDIT NAME
- DROP
- DUAL

EDIT NAME returns to the character generation screen. Since the character has already begun to adventure, at this point in the game you may only change his or her name.

Adding Previously Created Characters
You can also add previously created characters to your party. When you are at the View Character screen, right-click on an empty character slot, and choose ADD. Click on the character name of a previously generated character to have him or her appear in your party.

Inventory Screen

View Inventory

To use, ready, drop, or transfer items, select the View Inventory icon. The inventory screen appears with a large portrait of the active character in the center. To see the inventory screen for a different character, click on one of the character boxes on the left edge of the screen.

Surrounding the active character portrait are fourteen slots. Each refers to a different part of the character's body, such as legs, head, fingers, and arms. Left-click on an item to pick it up. To move an item to the character's body, first pick up the item and look for outlines around the item slots. A yellow outline appears around all the valid slots for that item. Center the item over any outlined slot; the outline flashes when the item is centered. Left-click again to drop it there. To ready weapons for combat, place them in your character's hands. Missile weapons and their ammunition have special slots at the upper left.

To the upper-right are twelve more slots representing your character's backpack. Store items here that you wish to keep. You may also find pouches and chests which can be used for more storage within the backpack. Pouches and chests hold six items, and both can be placed in your character's backpack. A pouch can be placed in a chest, but not vice versa; pouches cannot hold other pouches, nor can chests hold other chests. Open pouches and chests by right-clicking on them. Close them by left-clicking on the lid or flap.

To drop an item, select it and click DROP. The item disappears from your character's inventory and falls to the ground. If you want it again, just pick it up off the ground.

To split a bundle of “grouped” items (such as arrows) in half, select it and click on SPLIT. This only works if you have an empty slot in your backpack to hold the other half.

To transfer an item to another character, select that item and click the character box of the character you wish to transfer to. That character's inventory screen appears, and you can place the item appropriately.

The inventory screen also contains more data. Under the active character portrait, a description box provides information about objects, buttons, and available options. Along the right side of the screen, a panel displays character data. Along the bottom, a bar shows how much money, in ceramic pieces (CP), your character has.

Also at the bottom of the screen are the four character options buttons, the Game Menu button, and the Return to Game button.

Item Summary / Using Items

Right-click on any item in inventory (or in a container) to bring up its item summary. This is a box containing relevant information about the item. If the item is magical and can be used, a Cast Spell icon appears. Press the icon to cast the spell. You can’t use this function during combat if it is not the character's turn, or if the spell can’t be cast by the character holding the item. If you know what spell the item casts, the spell icon appears in the summary box. When you right-click on a spell scroll, a window with a spell icon appears. Click on the icon to learn the spell.

Some items are inherently magical. A magical sword, for example, may cast spells against your opponent whenever you hit him with the sword. This happens automatically if you have the sword readied and fight with it. Other items cast magical effects on whoever wears them. If an item casts a haste spell on the wearer, for example, the spell is cast as soon as that item is readied.

Stores

In your adventures on Athas, you may encounter shopkeepers who want to sell you their wares. When you visit a store, the regular inventory screen is displayed alongside a store screen.

Stores have six item slots showing the items for sale. If there are more than six items for sale, a MORE button appears allowing you to display the rest. The prices of the items appear below their slots. When you point to an item, a flashing highlight indicates that you can afford it; a solid highlight means you do not have enough money. To buy the item, simply click on it. The money is deducted automatically. The cursor becomes the item, and you can place it in your inventory where appropriate.

To sell an item to the shopkeeper, select the item to be sold and click SELL.

To leave the store, select the Return to Game button.
Cast Spells / Use Psionics

To select a spell or prepare a psionic power, press the Cast Spells/Use Psionics icon. All your spells and psionics will be displayed for each level known. To cycle between spell types and levels, click the appropriate buttons in the bottom row. Pointing with the cursor to a spell or psionic power displays its name at the bottom of the window. For a short description of a spell or power, right-click on the icon. (To close the window click anywhere within it.)

Select a spell or psionic power by left-clicking on its icon. After you have chosen, the pointer becomes an icon representing your choice. Some spells (healing spells, for example) can be cast directly from this screen by clicking the spell icon on the target character. Other spells automatically return you to the regular game screen.

Quick Cast: Right-clicking on the Dark Sun icon displays a box showing the last spell icon cast. Up to five different spells are shown in the queue. If you have no spells in the queue the Cast Spells/Use Psionics screen appears. If you cannot cast any more spells at a particular level an orange “X” appears over the spell icon.

Dots around the icon show the area of effect. Target the spell with the icon. Move it to your target and left-click. To abort, right-click once. This procedure is sufficient to cast most of the spells and psionics in SHATTERED LANDS. The only exceptions are “wall” spells (i.e., a wall of “something”). To cast a wall spell, left-click where you want one end of the wall to appear. Then move the spell cursor to where you want the other end of the wall to appear and left-click again. Your wall appears, and you live to fight a little longer.

The maximum number of spells that the player character can cast before resting is determined by his or her level. Refer to page 91 for the number of spells each class has available per level.

If you move the pointer beyond the range of the spell or psionic power, the icon disappears and the Can’t Cast icon takes its place. A location is invalid when it is out of range or line of sight, or when it cannot be affected by magic.

All characters begin as first level psionicists in the SHATTERED LANDS computer game.

Current Spell / Effects

To see if there are any good or evil effects influencing a character, press the Current Spell/Effects icon. Any effects your character is operating under appear in a row next to his or her icon. To eliminate a good effect, simply right-click on it and it disappears.

Evil effects are harder to get rid of. If any member of the party has a counter-spell or psionic ability that can void the effect, cast it on the affected character(s).

Dots around the icon show the area of effect. Target the spell with the icon. Move it to your target and left-click. To...

Ability Scores
Each character has six randomly-generated ability scores as described below. These scores fall within a range determined by the race and class of the character. The possible values range from 9 (low) to 24
(high). Higher values always offer greater advantages.

Strength measures physical power, muscle-mass, and stamina. High Strength increases a character's combat ability with melee weapons such as swords or maces. Strength also determines how much a character can carry without becoming encumbered and slowed in combat.

Dexterity measures agility, hand-eye coordination, and reflex speed.
Characters with high Dexterity have bonuses to Armor Class, an indication of how difficult they are to hit. Thieves especially benefit from high Dexterity. Good Dexterity also gives bonuses when using missile weapons such as bows or slings.

Constitution measures fitness,
health, and physical toughness.
High Constitution increases the number of hit points a character can receive. A character's Constitution also determines the maximum number of times that character can be raised from the dead. Every time a character is successfully resurrected,
1 point of Constitution is lost.

Intelligence measures memory,
reasoning, and learning ability.
Preservers especially rely on high Intelligence scores; their skill and very survival hinge on learning and using their knowledge of magic.

Wisdom measures a composite of judgment, enlightenment, willpower,
and intuition. Characters with low Wisdom are more susceptible to magical spells, while those with higher Wisdom have greater resistance. Clerics with Wisdom 15 or greater receive extra spells (see the "Cleric Wisdom Spell Bonus Table" on page 91).

Charisma measures personal magnetism, persuasiveness, and ability to assume command. NPCs may respond better to characters with higher Charisma.
CHARACTER RACES

Your characters can be any of eight races: dwarf, elf, half-elf, half-giant, halfling, human, mul, and thri-kreen. Each race has its own unique features and abilities. Some races are naturally stronger or weaker, or more or less agile than others. These differences are reflected in modifications to their generated ability scores. See the “Racial Ability Adjustments Table” on page 89 for specific adjustments.

Dwarves

Dwarves are short but extremely powerful. Athasian dwarves average 4 1/2 to 5 feet in height and tend to have a very large muscle mass — a full-grown dwarf weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds. Dwarves can live up to 250 years.

By nature, dwarves are nonmagical and never use magical spells. This restriction does not apply to dwarven clerics.

Dwarves can be fighters, gladiators, clerics, thieves, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Elves

Elves are a race of long-limbed sprinters given to theft, raiding, and warfare. An Athasian elf stands between 6 1/2 and 7 1/2 feet tall. They are slender, lean, and generally in terrific physical condition. An elf warrior is conditioned to run quickly over sandy and rocky terrain, sometimes for days at a time — an elf warrior can cross better than 50 miles per day.

Elves use no beasts of burden for personal transportation. It is dishonorable among elves to ride on an animal unless wounded and near death.

Elves can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, preservers, clerics, thieves, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Half-Elves

Half-elves are the result of the intermingling of human and elven societies in the great cities of Athas. Half-elves are generally tall, standing between 6 and 6 1/2 feet.

Due to their mixed heritage, half-elves are often unacceptable by both elves and humans. This intolerance leads them to be self-reliant, and able to survive without companionship.

Half-elves can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, preservers, clerics, druids, thieves, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Half-Giants

Giants dominate many of the islands and coastal areas of the Sea of Silt. In some lost millennium, as a bizarre experiment or perhaps as some sort of curse, giants were magically crossbred with humans. Half-giants are now fairly common.

Half-giants stand between 10 and 12 feet tall, and weigh in the neighborhood of 1,600 pounds. Their features are human, but exaggerated.

Half-giants can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, clerics, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Halflings

Halflings are very short humanoids, standing no more than 3 1/2 feet tall. They are muscled and proportioned like humans, but have the faces of wise and beautiful children. Halflings weigh 50 to 60 pounds and are always in peak physical condition.

Halflings can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, clerics, thieves, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Humans

Humans are the predominant race on Athas. The average human male stands between 6 and 6 1/2 feet tall and weighs 180 to 200 pounds. The average human female is slightly smaller, averaging between 5 1/2 and 6 feet in height and weighing between 100 and 140 pounds.

Humans can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, preservers, clerics, druids, thieves, psionicists, and dual-class characters.

Muls

Muls are an incredibly tough cross-breed of humans and dwarves. They retain the height and cunning of their human parent, with the durability and raw strength of their dwarven parent. Muls are usually the products of the slave pits. They are always male.

Full-grown muls stand 6 to 6 1/2 feet tall and weigh 240 to 300 pounds. They have stern facial features, and most muls have no hair or beard.

Muls can be fighters, gladiators, clerics, thieves, psionicists, and multi-class characters.

Thri-kreen

Thri-kreen are the least “human” in appearance of all the races. Thri-kreen are insectoids — six-limbed creatures with tough, sandy-yellow exoskeletons. They stand as tall as 7 feet at the shoulder, have two large eyes, two antennae, and a small powerful jaw.

They are always female.

Thri-kreen make and use the chatkcha, a crystalline throwing wedge. The chatkcha can be thrown up to 90 yards and still return to the thrower if it misses the target. When it hits, the chatkcha inflicts 3 to 9 points of damage.

Thri-kreen cannot use armor, cloaks, belts, boots, or rings due to their non-human shape.

Thri-kreen can be fighters, gladiators, rangers, clerics, psionicists, and multi-class characters.
CHARACTER CLASSES

Character classes reflect the interests and occupations of your characters. A class is like a job; it's what a character does on a daily basis. Each class has certain unique abilities and limitations. Characters may also become dual- or multi-class, specializing in more than one area at once.

A dual-class character is one who starts in a single class, advances to a moderate level, and then changes to a second class, starting all over again from level one. The benefits and abilities of the first class are lost until he exceeds the level of his first class in his second. The character can never again advance in that class. Only humans can be dual-class characters. A human character may do this process twice, potentially allowing a total of three classes.

A multi-class character improves in two or more classes simultaneously. All experience is divided equally between each class. This, of course, means that level advancement proceeds at a much slower rate than in those characters who remain single-class. Only demihumans and thri-kreen can be multi-class characters.

Special note: A prime requisite is the most important ability score for a particular class. A fighter's prime requisite, for example, is Strength. Characters who have an ability score of 16 or greater as their prime requisite receive a 10 percent bonus to the experience points they earn. Characters with more than one prime requisite must have a score of 16 or greater in all of their prime requisites to receive the bonus.

Fighters on Athas are skilled warriors, soldiers trained in both individual combat and mass warfare. This training includes use and maintenance of all manner of weapons and armor. Fighters can use any type of armor or weapon without restriction. (Thri-kreen fighters, however, have certain restrictions.)

Fighters cannot cast magical spells; they rely solely on their strong sword-arms. They can, however, use any type of magical weapon or armor. They can also use magical items such as rings and gauntlets.

Fighters gain speed in addition to skill when they advance in levels. High-level fighters (as well as gladiators and rangers) are able to attack more often in melee than other types of characters.

Gladiators

- Ability Requirements: Dexterity 12, Strength 13, Constitution 15
- Prime Requisite: Strength
- Races Allowed: All

Gladiators are the slave warriors of the city-states, specially trained for brutal physical contests. Disciplined in many diverse forms of hand-to-hand combat, and skilled in the use of dozens of weapons, gladiators are the most dangerous warriors on Athas. Gladiators cannot cast spells, though they can use any type of magical weapons or armor.

Gladiators learn to optimize their armor when they reach fifth level. They condition themselves to use the armor to its best advantage, consequently gaining a -1 AC bonus. This bonus does nothing for gladiators who aren't wearing armor.

Gladiators, like fighters, gain speed with experience, and consequently can attack more often in melee at higher levels than other types of characters.

Rangers

- Ability Requirements: Strength 13, Dexterity 13, Wisdom 14
- Prime Requisites: Strength, Dexterity, Wisdom
- Races Allowed: Elf, Half-elf, Halfling, Human, Thri-kreen

Rangers are trained hunters, trackers, and survivalists. They are taught to live as much by their wits and skills as by their swords and bows. Like fighters, rangers can use any type of weapon or armor, though heavy armor interferes with their special abilities. They can, however, use two one-handed weapons (at the same time) with no penalty.

Rangers, like other fighter-types, gain the ability to attack more often in melee than other characters when they reach higher levels. In addition, rangers also gain some spellcasting ability. When you create a ranger, you must choose the elemental sphere that character will belong to. When a ranger reaches eighth-level, he or she gains the ability to cast cleric spells from his or her elemental sphere.

Preservers are individuals trained in the arcane and mysterious secrets of magic. They cast their spells in harmony with nature, giving back the energy they take from the land. Preservers are usually poor fighters, preferring to rely on their intellect and magical abilities. They tend to hang back in battle, pummeling their foes with mystic attacks. Preservers cannot wear any type of armor because armor is restrictive and interferes with spellcasting. Also, because they lack martial instruction, preservers are severely limited in the weapons they can use.

Clerics

Clerics are priests who choose to worship one of the four elemental spheres (earth, air, fire, and water). This choice dictates what spells the cleric can call upon, and what types of weapons the character can use. Clerics have major access to the sphere of the element of their worship. They also have minor access to the Sphere of the Cosmos. This means that they can cast any spell within their own sphere, and can cast Cosmos spells of third level or less. However, clerics cannot cast any spells from spheres they do not belong to.

Clerics generally prefer to leave combat to the fighter-types, but, when necessary, they can fight in melee. All clerics are trained in combat. Clerics are not restricted with regard to the armor they wear.

Clerics can only use weapons that are associated with the sphere of the element of their worship. A cleric of the plane of fire can only use flaming weapons such as flaming arrows, burning oil, and weapons enchanted to burn or scald. Obsidian weapons are also acceptable because they were once fused under great heat and pressure. Clerics of the earth must use weapons of stone (obsidian included), metal, or wood, as these elements originate in the earth. A cleric of the air is restricted to missile weapons, because they fly through the air. Water clerics can only use weapons of bone or wood, because these are organic materials through which water once flowed. Clerics who associate with the spheres of earth and fire have the most choices as to which weapons to use.

Clerics also have powers against undead monsters such as skeletons. The ability to turn undead causes undead creatures to flee in fright. Higher level clerics can destroy monsters by “turning” them. Clerics with Wisdom 15 or higher gain extra spells as they advance levels (see the “Cleric Wisdom Spell Bonus Table” on page 91).

Druids

Druids, like clerics, are priests who worship the elements. Unlike clerics, they are responsible for guarding a section of land. Their power derives from the spirits of these lands. They have major access to the Sphere of the Cosmos, and the sphere of their chosen element.

Druids have no restrictions as to what weapons they may use. They are not allowed to wear armor, but may don items that give magical protection (such as bracers, cloaks, etc.). They can use any magical items. However, unlike their cleric brethren, druids cannot turn undead. Druids with Wisdom 15 or higher gain extra spells as they advance levels (see the “Cleric Wisdom Spell Bonus Table” on page 91).

Athasian thieves run the gamut of society. Some are malcontents, who prey on the unsuspecting. Others are in the employ of the nobility, plying their trade by contract in the name of a royal household or noble family. As thieves gain levels they become more proficient at picking locks, and avoiding any attached traps. Due to their high Dexterity, thieves are skilled at scaling vertical surfaces such as cliffs.

In combat, thieves do additional damage by “backstabbing.” A thief backstabs by attacking a target from the exact opposite direction it was first attacked. A backstab has a better chance of hitting the defender and does greater damage.

Because they need to move freely and quietly, thieves’ abilities are restricted when they wear anything other than leather-type armor. Thieves can use all weapons.

Psionicists

All intelligent creatures on Athas have some measure of psionic ability. Psionics are the powers of the mind, powers like clairvoyance and telepathy. Psionicists are those who have devoted their lives to the study of these powers. Psionicists can fight, if necessary, but they are restricted in both armor and weapons. Like thieves, psionicists can only wear leather-type armor. They are restricted to small weapons, though they can be of any sort: short swords, daggers, short bows, maces, etc.

The three psionic disciplines are psychokinesis, psychometabolism, and telepathy. Each gives access to different mental powers. As the psionicist advances in levels, he can improve in psionic power.

Psychokinesis concerns physical manipulation of objects, often for destructive purposes. Psychometabolism involves manipulating the character's own body to enhance it. Telepathy deals with the defenses and attacks of mental warfare.

OTHER CHARACTERISTICS

In addition to ability scores, race, and class, characters have several other characteristics that affect game play: alignment, Armor Class, hit points, experience points, level, and THAC0.

Alignment

Alignment is the philosophy a character lives by and can affect how NPCs and some magic items react to a character. The possibilities range from believing strongly in society and altruism (Lawful Good) to being anarchistic and actively unpleasant (Chaotic Evil). Life-threatening situations put a character's alignment to the test. Note: your party characters must be good or neutral; they cannot be of evil alignment.

Alignment is presented here with examples of how differently-aligned members of a party face a life-threatening situation (in this case, a shortage of water).

Lawful Good

A character of this alignment insists that everyone get an even share of what water there is, even those in the party who seem beyond hope. He or she readily conceives of and accepts plans that call for unequal distribution of water for the greater good of the group.

Neutral Good

A neutral good character insists that everyone get an equal share of available water, but won't care one way or the other about characters that may be beyond hope. They also accept plans that call for unequal distribution of water for the good of the group.

Lawful Evil

A character of this alignment insists that available water be evenly distributed among the able-bodied of the group, but won’t offer any to those that seem too far gone. He or she accepts plans that call for unequal distribution of water if that means more water for him or her.

Neutral Evil

A character of this alignment insists that available water be evenly distributed among the able-bodied of the group, but won’t offer any to those that seem too far gone. He or she accepts plans that call for unequal distribution of water if that means more water for him or her.

Lawful Neutral

Such characters insist that everyone get an equal share of available water, but won’t care one way or the other about characters that may be beyond hope. They also accept plans that call for unequal distribution of water for the good of the group.

Neutral Neutral

A character of this alignment wants a fair share for him or herself, but won’t necessarily come to anyone’s aid. He or she considers plans that call for unequal distribution of water if he or she and the party benefit in the short term.

True Neutral

A character of this alignment wants a fair share for him or herself, but won’t necessarily come to anyone’s aid. He or she considers plans that call for unequal distribution of water if he or she and the party benefit in the short term.
Neutral Evil
A character of this alignment insists on his or her fair share, and is against giving water to the very weak. He or she considers plans for unequal water distribution if he or she personally benefits.

Chaotic Good
A chaotic good character insists that everyone get an even share of the available water, even the very weak. He or she considers plans calling for unequal water distribution if he or she and those he or she likes personally get more water as part of the plan.

Chaotic Neutral
Such a character insists on his or her fair share, and won’t concern him or herself with the plight of those too weak to stand up for themselves. He or she considers plans calling for unequal water distribution if he or she personally gets more water as part of the plan.

Chaotic Evil
A chaotic evil character freely lies, cheats, or even kills to get all the water he or she can. He or she constantly suggests plans for unequal water distribution that grant him or her additional water immediately.

Armor Class
Armor Class (AC) measures how difficult someone is to hit and damage; the lower the Armor Class value, the harder they are to hit. Low Armor Class values can indicate different things. A character might be difficult to hit because he or she is outfitted with magical armor, while a monster might have the same AC because it is small and fast. Armor Class changes when characters find and use new armor or shields. High Dexterity improves a character’s AC.

Hit Points
Hit points measure how difficult a character or opponent is to incapacitate or kill; higher values are better. Every time an attack gets past armor and defenses, it does damage that is subtracted from the target’s hit points. If the hit points reach 0, the character falls unconscious. If the hit points reach -10 or less, the character dies.

Experience Points
Experience points measure how much a character has accomplished. Your characters earn experience points for killing monsters, finding treasure, and completing parts of the adventure. Having prime requisite scores of 16 or more increases experience earned by 10 percent. Characters increase in level as they earn more experience points. All characters start with some base amount of experience. These base experience points are distributed evenly among all of the classes for multi-class characters.

Level
Level measures how much a character has advanced in his or her class. Whenever characters earn enough experience points to advance in level, they gain hit points, combat ability, and resistance to the effects of poisons and magical attacks. Preservers, clerics, druids, and high-level rangers gain the ability to memorize a greater number of spells and to cast new spells.

When your characters gain enough experience to advance a level, they advance automatically. Once trained, the benefits of the new level come into effect. Level advancement tables for all the classes begin on page 90.

THACØ
The ability to hit enemies in melee or with missile fire is represented by THACØ, which stands for “To Hit Armor Class Ø.” This is the number a character must “roll” equal to or greater than to do damage on a target with an AC of Ø. The lower the THACØ, the better the chance to hit the target.

Note: the generation of a random number is often referred to as a “roll.” In determining the success of an attack, the number generated is from 1 to 20.

An attack is successful if the random number is greater than or equal to the attacker’s THACØ minus the target’s AC. THACØ may be modified by things like range, attacking from the rear, magic weapons, and magic spells.

For example: a fighter with a THACØ of 5 attacking a monster with an AC of 3 would need to roll a 2 or greater: (THACØ 5) - (AC 3) = 2+. To hit a monster with an AC of -2, however, he would need to roll a 7 or greater: (THACØ 5) - (AC -2) = 7+.
• BESTIARY •

To survive on Athas, almost every form of life has become a monster. The most notable monsters are described on the following pages.

Creatures of Shattered Lands

Many of the monsters in Shattered Lands appear for the first time in an AD&D® computer fantasy role-playing game and must be described in greater detail. They appear in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters.”

• BULLETTE

Aptly called landsharks, bullets are terrifying predators that live only on meat. When attacking, they employ their large jaws and front feet.

• DAGGORAN

Please refer to page 36 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of daggorans.

• DAGOLAR SLIME

Please refer to page 37 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of Dagolar slimes.

• DARK SPIDER

Please refer to page 38 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of dark spiders.

• DUNE REAPER

Please refer to page 39 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of dune reapers.

• ELEMENTAL

AIR

• Lesser Air Elemental

Lesser air elementals are virtually indistinguishable from the harmless dust devils and sirocco winds that frequently blow across the Athasian desert. They use their near invisibility to their advantage. They are the fastest of the lesser elementals and use their speed when attacking.

• Air Elemental

Common air elementals appear as amorphous, shifting clouds when they answer summons to the Prime Material Plane. They strike their opponents with strong, focused blasts of air that, like giant, invisible fists, do moderate amounts of damage.

EARTH

• Lesser Earth Elemental

Made from coalesced sand, silt, or rock, lesser earth elementals are the mightiest elementals that low-level conjurers can summon. The lesser earth elementals don’t do as much damage as common earth elementals, but are still formidable foes.

• Earth Elemental

Common earth elementals appear on the Prime Material Plane as very large humanoids made of dirt, stones, precious metals, and gems. They pound their victims with their huge fists, inflicting significant amounts of damage in the process.

MOUNTAIN STALKER
Please refer to page 44 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of mountain stalkers.

OTYUGH
Otyughs, also known as gulguthra, are terrifying creatures that lurk in heaps of dung and decay, waiting for something to disturb them. They attack with two ridged tentacles which can smash opponents or grapple them to death.

PSURLON
Please refer to page 45 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of psurlons.

SAND HOWLER

SCREAMER BEETLE
Please refer to page 48 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of screamer beetles.

SHADOW
Shadows are undead creatures that drain strength from their victims with their touch. Their chilling grasp does light damage to their victims, in addition to weakening them.

---

ELEMENTAL, cont.

Fire

- Lesser Fire Elemental
  These creatures from the elemental plane of fire are the most spirited and mischievous of all the lesser elementals. In combat, lesser fire elementals move up against targets to burn them, or use their flame tongues to sear them.

- Fire Elemental
  On the Prime Material Plane, common fire elementals appear as tall sheets of flame. Fire elementals have two arm-like appendages, one on each side of their bodies. In combat, they lash out with their ever-moving limbs, searing their opponents with tongues of flame.

Water

- Lesser Water Elemental
  All water elementals, including the lesser ones, are looked upon with awe and respect on Athas because of their link with the life-giving fluid. Lesser water elementals use their flowing motion as a basic form of attack. Gathering speed as they go, they use their entire bodies to ram and inflict large amounts of damage on their victims.

- Water Elemental
  Common water elementals appear on the Prime Material Plane as high-crested waves. Their arms appear as waves, one thrust out on each side of the body. When water elementals strike, they lash out with these wave-like arms.

Fire Eel
Please refer to page 40 in the next section, “Detailed Descriptions of New Monsters,” for a complete profile of fire eels.

---

Genie

Genies have the upper torso of humans, and the lower bodies of whirlwinds. They pummel their victims with a powerful tornado-like force. Their ability to use illusions and become invisible makes them virtually impossible to capture.
So-ut (Rampager)
The so-ut, or rampagers, are fierce creatures that live only for the sake of destruction. They know no fear and hate anything associated with man. They are huge, six-legged creatures with gray scales covering their whole bodies. In melee, so-uts are terrible foes; they are able to attack with both foreclaws, and each claw secretes an acidic poison. This corrosive poison destroys both armor and weapons.

Red Sladad
These large, red frog-like beings are vicious combatants that are quick to attack all other creatures. Red slaads attack with two claws and a furious bite. They sometimes resist magic and have been known to heal damage they have acquired in combat.

Blue Sladad
Blue slaads are ruthless warriors that specialize in mass combat. Blue slaads have two razor-sharp bone rakes sticking out from the backs of their hands, and they are immune to normal weapons, making them very dangerous opponents. Beware of their deadly poison.

Slig
Sligs are distant cousins of goblins and hobgoblins; though somewhat larger, they are just as ferocious. Sligs love combat and delight in devising inventive methods to destroy their opponents. Sligs prefer to use hand weapons but can bite when necessary. They bear a striking resemblance to slaads, though no one can explain why.

Tanar’ri, Greater — Babau
Greater tanar’ris are commonly known as babaus. They are horrid creatures that look much like huge skeletons covered with dark, form-fitting leather. They also have large, ugly horns protruding from the backs of their skulls, and long, wicked claws covered with dirt, blood, and decaying flesh. Their movements are very quick, sharp, and mechanical, emphasizing their cold, inhuman nature. Beware of their deadly poison.

Tanar’ri, True — Vrock
True tanar’ris are commonly known as vrocks. Vrocks look like crosses between large humans and vultures. These creatures have strong, sinewy limbs covered with fine, gray feathers; long, unseemly necks; and repulsive vulture heads. Vicious fighters, vrocks attack multiple times in a single melee round with their wicked claws and beaks.

Psionic Summary: Level Dis/Sci/Dev Attack/Defense Score PSPs

Psychokinesis — Sciences: detonate; Devotions: ballistic attack, control body, inertial barrier.

Appearance: Daggorans are large frog-like creatures with gold-colored skin. Their eyes are green with yellow pupils. Located between the daggorans’ shoulders is a green crystalline growth. Daggorans are creatures of the deserts near Draj. They are often trained and used as trackers by Drajian guards because of the daggorans’ innate ability to “pick up” and track the psionic signature of most intelligent and psionic creatures.

Combat: Daggorans can opt to jump up to their movement distance. This hop will clear any object up to one-third as high as the length of the leap and requires only a single round to accomplish. A jumping daggoran can attack in midair or at the end of its leap.

Daggorans frequently hunt in packs during times when food is scarce — generally the way of life in the desert. These packs are likely (60% chance) to follow and attack prey. In the wild, when a daggoran comes upon a potential meal it usually launches an attack with its detonate psionic ability (which originates from the crystalline growth on its back) at the ground near a victim, sometimes killing it with the shrapnel created from the explosion. If the victim survives the initial attack, the daggoran rushes in to attack with its mouth, causing 2-12 (2d6) points of damage per hit.

Habitat/Society: Daggorans are social creatures, living and hunting in packs, much like wolves of other worlds. The hierarchy within a pack is strict with only the strongest daggoran as the leader. Whenever a daggoran wishes to vie for the position of pack leader, a battle to the death ensues. The victor quite obviously becomes the pack leader, while the loser becomes a meal for the rest of the pack.

Ecology: Daggorans have proven to be valuable hunters of the Athasian deserts as they help keep the population of rodents and other small animals down to a tolerable level. Unfortunately, thri-kreen consider daggorans a delicacy and as such, the daggoran population has been hunted to near extinction.
Telepathy — Sciences: psionic blast, Devotions: mind blank, ego whip, psychic crush.

Appearance: Dagolar slimes are Tyrian slimes genetically altered by the evil psionicist, Dagolar. These slimes are hideous, amorphous creatures that are the bane of intelligent beings. Dagolar slimes have greenish-colored “bodies” with red highlights. In the middle of a Dagolar slime rests a human-like brain covered with slime. Like most slimes, these creatures have the ability to move along walls and ceilings.

Combat: When a Dagolar slime attacks, it envelops the head of its prey and dissolves it. As if the secretions weren’t enough, a Dagolar slime also has limited psionic attack abilities.

Habitat/Society: Dagolar slimes are solitary, asexual creatures. Reproduction happens when a Dagolar slime encounters a victim with an especially active brain pattern (i.e., a psionicist). Once the victim is incapacitated, the slime does not consume the brain but rather removes it from the victim. At this point the Dagolar divides its slime “body” and through some unknown process “transplants” the new brain into its new offspring.

Ecology: Dagolar slimes pose a threat to all intelligent creatures and, as such, are usually killed when encountered.

Dark Spider

Climate/Terrain: Subterranean

Frequency: Very rare

Organization: Tribe

Activity Cycle: Any

Hit Dice: 6

No. of Attacks: 3

Damage/Attack: 1-10 (foreleg)/1-10 (foreleg)/1-6 (bite)+poison

Special Attacks: See below

Special Defenses: Nil

Magic Resistance: Nil

Size: M (4’-6’ long)

Morale: Elite (14)

XP Value: Warrior: 975, Mage: 2,000 Queen: 8 HD — 3,000 Psionicist — add 2,000

Psionics: 20%

Appearance: Dark spiders are intelligent, subterranean arachnids. A portion of the dark spider population has a wide range of psionic abilities, and some have even mastered defiler magic. They form small tribes ruled by the psionic elite (queen). Magically, their powers can rival that of a sixth-level defiler. Dark spiders often lay snares made from their webs. In rare instances, the spiders have been known to trade silk for live food. A number of merchant houses are rumored to trade slaves for the valuable silk.

Combat: In melee, dark spiders attack with their forelegs and poison bite. The forelegs do 1d10 points of damage and the bite does 1d6 points of damage, plus poison. Their poison (type F) is deadly if a save versus poison is not made.

Habitat/Society: There seem to be three types of spiders in a tribe. The first, and most common, is the warrior spider. The warrior spider has limited psionic abilities, relying on its melee attacks to defeat its victims. The second type of dark spider is the mage spider. The mage spider is known to use up to sixth level defiler magic and some psionics. The last and most feared dark spider is the queen spider. The queen spider is an extremely powerful and skilled psionicist/defiler.

Ecology: The dark spiders have no natural enemies, but many acquired ones. Their young are born in web sacks, located in the lair’s hatchery. The poison is highly prized by assassins and alchemists.
Dune Reaper

Appearance: These dune denizens prowl the sandy wastes. They like to leap from the sand to ambush and impale victims on their scythe-like limbs. Common to the desert near the city-state of Draj, dune reapers are often captured for fighting in the gladiatorial arena.

Combat: The dune reaper attacks with two scythe-like limbs doing 3d6 points of damage (+7 for exceptional strength). It also has a bite attack for 2d6 points of damage. They are known to be resistant to magic attacks.

Habitat/Society: Dune reapers roam the wastes in small packs, searching for food. They often lie in wait near a caravan route for days, and then ambush the caravan when it wanders within range. They have no permanent lairs and they mate twice a year.

Ecology: Dune reapers eat anything — plant or animal. The pack will fight to the death when food is the issue. This tenacity also makes them prized in the arena.

Fire Eel

Appearance: The fire eel is a six-foot-long, fish-like snake that is very aggressive.

Combat: Fire eels can breathe a stream of fire 10' long. Their favorite mode of attack is to burrow near a target, expose their heads and "breathe" upon the intended victim. If the victim survives, the eels plunge back into the sand and attack from a different location. The breath from a fire eel does 6d6 points of damage. The fire eel bites for 3d8 points of damage.

Habitat/Society: Nil

Ecology: Fire eels roam the sandy wastes searching for food. Not a social animal, the fire eel lives a solitary life when it is not breeding.
GREATER SHADOW

- Climate/Terrain: Any ruins or subterranean chambers
- Frequency: Very rare
- Organization: Solitary
- Activity Cycle: Night or darkness
- Diet: Living creatures
- Intelligence: Average (10-12)
- Treasure: F
- Alignment: Chaotic evil

Appearance: Greater shadows are more powerful versions of shadows. Greater shadows are undetectable in all but the brightest of surroundings, as they appear to be nothing more than shadows. In bright light they can be clearly seen.

Combat: The greater shadow is primarily from the Negative Material Plane. This gives it the ability to drain the life force from its victim. The chilling touch of a greater shadow inflicts 2d6 points of damage and drains 1 strength point from its victim. The greater shadow is immune to sleep, charm, and hold spells, and it is unaffected by cold-based attacks. They can be turned by clerics.

Habitat/Society: Greater shadows travel in loosely organized packs that freely roam ancient ruins, caverns, graveyards, and dungeons.

Ecology: Greater shadows were once powerful humanoids exposed to the Negative Material Plane. It has been rumored that greater shadows are really muls who have been cursed by the touch of a shadow.

MAGERA

- Climate/Terrain: Table Lands, Mountains, Subterranean
- Frequency: Uncommon
- Organization: Tribe
- Activity Cycle: Any
- Diet: Omnivore
- Intelligence: Low to very (5-11)
- Treasure: R, S
- Alignment: Lawful neutral or lawful evil

Appearance: The magera are a tribal race that typically live in caves. They frequently raid caravans and poorly defended villages. Those with higher intelligence have been known to master defiler magic, up to fifth level. Those with the greatest psionic ability often become leaders.

Combat: Magera attack with their fists doing 1d8+8 points of damage.

Habitat/Society: Magera tribes are found anywhere from caverns to mountaintops. The tribes have 10-20 males, 12-18 females, and 2-8 children. The tribe leader is usually a defiler of up to 5th level. Magera live by raiding and scavenging, and eat just about anything.

Ecology: The magera plague mankind, lusting for gold, gems, and jewelry as well as human flesh. They are evil-natured creatures that join other monsters to prey on the weak.
Appearance: Similar to their smaller cousins, the scorpions, the mastyrals are some of the deadliest beasts in the desert.

Combat: For the most part they lie buried in the sand, hibernating. However, when a victim is within range, the mastyrail bursts out and attacks, attempting to impale the target with its poisonous tail. The poison inflicts 30 points of damage, 15 points of damage if a saving throw is made. The mastyrail also attacks with its two claws doing 1-10 points of damage and a bite doing 2-12 points of damage. The mastyrail regenerates 3 hit points per round.

Habitat/Society: Mastyrals live in underground burrows or ruins. Each lair may have 4-20 mastyrail eggs. These beings attack any living creature that is unfortunate enough to stray too close to their lair.

Ecology: These creatures contribute to the ecosystem by feeding on giant versions of insects such as spiders and ants. Alchemists and assassins prize the mastyrail’s venom because of its potency.

Mountain Stalker

Appearance: Mountain stalkers are weird variants of beasthead giants; stalkers have a group of tentacles instead of forearms. Skilled climbers, they populate the mountains west of Draj.

Combat: Mountain stalkers attack with their tentacles doing 3d6+7 points of damage per attack. This attack makes them deadly in combat.

Habitat/Society: The mountain stalkers shy away from any organized settlement. However, they are not above attacking a much weaker force if stumbled upon. Mountain stalkers have no regard for any form of life, except other mountain stalkers.

Ecology: Mountain stalkers can survive on almost any type of animal or plant diet. They prefer meat to vegetation. The lives of mountain stalkers are very hazardous, thus they have a short life expectancy.
Psurlons were a highly intelligent and technologically advanced race. Their earthworm-like bodies have humanoid legs and arms that end in cloven-hoofed feet and black, talon-like claws (respectively). The head of a psurlon appears much like that of an earthworm with a large gaping maw, ringed with teeth-like projections. Like earthworms, psurlons have no eyes but use some other sense to "see." Psurlons are usually garbed in richly colored robes. Currently, these creatures are trapped on the astral plane. Evil psionicists seeking greater knowledge usually summon a psurlon (with the use of the summon planar creature psychopductive science). The price for psurlon knowledge is often quite high, and in many cases results in the death of the psionicist. M any times after summoning a psurlon and gaining its knowledge, the summoner attempts to slay it and send it back to the astral plane. However, psurlons never forget a broken deal and often track down the original summoner and extract their due payment.

Combat: Through centuries of magical experimentation, the rugged hide the psurlons have developed provides the creatures with a natural Armor Class of 0. The use of armor is disdained as it interferes with their psurlon abilities. Psurlons are very dangerous foes in combat with many options at their disposal. They disdain the use of weapons, preferring to rend their victims apart using their claws and teeth. When engaged in melee combat, psurlons attack with each claw, causing 3-12 (d10+2) points of damage, and a vicious bite for 2-16 (2d8) points of damage. The most dangerous ability of the psurlons, however, is their massive psionic ability.

Habitat/Society: Psurlons existed on Athas many thousands of years ago. At the height of their evolution, psurlons, in their eternal quest for knowledge and power, devised a means to psychically link up with all psurlons throughout Athas. With this ability, the psurlons planned to attempt a worldwide conquest of Athas. The night was chosen carefully. When the moon was full and at its zenith, all psurlons across Athas "linked up" and sent forth their psychic energy. What the psurlons did not realize was that the fabric of the prime material plane could not contain such a psychic force. A rift in the planes was ripped open and all psurlons were sucked into the astral plane. The force that pulled them into the astral plane was so great that each of the psurlons was knocked into a catatonic state for a period of 100 years. When the psurlons awoke from this state, the rift had long since repaired itself. The psurlons were trapped with no way back to Athas or any other place on the prime material plane. The fabric of the astral plane seems to be much stronger than that of the prime, for the psurlons cannot conjure up the massive convergence like that which caused their entrapment. Over the centuries, the psurlons have lost the ability to conjure up the massive convergence but their determination to return to Athas has only grown. When a psurlon is summoned, it will almost always attempt to find a way to stay on the prime material plane so that it can try to bring its people back.

A psurlons' community consists of 10-100 males with a like number of females. Young number half of the female population. Psurlon communities are led by a psurlon adept who has 18 hit dice and a much stronger psionic ability. Psurlon females fight as psurlon males.

Psurlons normally feed on the flesh of other creatures, preferably that of other sentient races. They especially like the flesh of halflings and humans.

Ecology: Psurlons have an average life span of 5000 years. Like most intelligent predators, psurlons are usually at the top of the food chain. However, psurlons seem to be something of a delicacy to Athasian rocs. This of course causes psurlons to react poorly whenever one of these great birds of prey is in the area.

Appearance: Travelling as packs of desert-dwelling animals, howlers are known for the chilling screams they unleash while pursuing prey. A number of mercenaries have managed to domesticate young howlers and use them to capture runaway slaves.

Combat: The howlers roam the desert in packs and are rarely seen alone. Howler attack with two foreclaws doing 1d3 points of damage and with a bite for 1d6 points of damage. The most feared attack form of the howler is its ability to paralyze victims with its many eyes.

Habitat/Society: Howlers live and hunt in packs. Each pack is led by a single, large, male howler. In the lair of a pack of howlers there is a 20% chance that any given pair of howlers will have 1-2 young howlers. Although at this point the young howlers will not fight, they can be trained to serve as war beasts or hunting animals.

Ecology: Howlers are valuable hunters in Athas. During the last few years, they have been hunted almost to extinction in the tablelands.

Telepathy — Sciences: psionic blast.

Appearance: Screamer beetles are very deceptive in their beauty. The multi-colored chitinous shells are prized by art collectors and alchemists.

Combat: Screamer beetles hunt in small packs and generate psionic blasts from their abdomen that can harm, or even kill, targets. In melee, they attack with their two mandibles, doing 1d8 points of damage.

Habitat/Society: Nil

Ecology: The screamer beetles form small packs to overcome their victims. The main concern of the pack is food, thus they have been known to attack caravans.
SSURRAN

Appearance: Ssurrans are a reptilian race of nomads. Some are simple hunters, while others have taken up raiding. Ssurran shamans can advance to be sixth level clerics, typically of earth or fire. They have adapted to the heat of the Athasian day and are active even during the blazing mid-day heat.

Combat: Ssurrans attack with their claws doing 1d8+4 points of damage, or with any weapons available.

Habitat/Society: Ssurrans roam Athas, seeking shelter and food for the tribe. There have been cases when multiple tribes have joined together against a common threat. The ssurrans are led by a council of elders, who commonly are the priests of the tribe.

Ecology: The ssurrans have few natural enemies. They prey on human, demihuman, or humanoid settlements if nearby. The ssurran eggs are inedible, as is their flesh, but their skin is sometimes worked as scale armor (AC 6) that is resistant to heat.

Habitat/Society: Strines live in sandy, rocky areas. Strines mate once a year and the males leave before the young are born.

Ecology: Strines feed on insects and small animals. They also feed on vegetation, and are very fond of cactus.
STYR

Appearance: The styrr is a summoned creature from the elemental plane of earth. The styrr resembles a four-faced statue, with four arms and legs.

Combat: Having four heads makes it impossible to be surprised and allows the styrr to attack four times for 2d10 points of damage each. The styrr can also breathe fire inflicting 3d6 points of damage.

Habitat/Society: The styrr is usually summoned to guard treasure chambers. Many adventurers seeking treasure in ruins have fallen before the relentless attacks of the styrr.

Ecology: Styrr are not natural creatures and play no part in the world’s ecology. They neither eat nor sleep, and “live” until their bodies are destroyed or banished.

TARI (RATMAN)

Appearance: Commonly referred to as ratmen by humans, the Tari are small, furry, humanoid scavengers. They are capable of thriving on food and water too polluted for humans to drink.

Combat: While Tari will normally flee from anything bigger than themselves, if forced to fight they will use any weapon available or bite for 1d3 points of damage. The Tari tend to carry diseases, so a Tari bite has a 5% chance of infecting its intended victim with a serious disease, unless a save versus poison is made.

Habitat/Society: The Tari gather in small tribes, living in sewers and garbage heaps. They move among these areas looking for food and items to protect the tribe.

Ecology: Fearful and suspicious, the Tari avoid contact with others. They are only hostile if they greatly outnumber a victim. Tari mate once a year.
Telepathy — Sciences: tower of iron will; Devotions: ego whip, contact, ESP, send thoughts, sound link, taste link.

Clairsentience — Science: clairvoyance; Devotions: danger sense, know location, spirit sense.

Appearance: These small humanoids are known as the Undermountain folk by the surface dwellers. They are a reclusive, shy breed that dwell in the caverns beneath Undermountain. Undermountain folk belong to Mindhomes. Their complexion is light blue, with no body hair. They have infravision with a range of 120 feet.

Combat: When trapped and forced to fight, Undermountain folk will use psionics to defend themselves, as well as anything within reach. The Mindhomes are in constant telepathic link with each other. Mind-affecting spells do not work against them since they are telepathically linked.

Habitat/Society: Mindhomes are communal groups, telepathically linked to each other. Those with similar views support one another, creating a unified mind. Those who find independent thought are outcasts from the communal group.

Ecology: If taken from the communal groups, individuals usually go into a cataleptic state and therefore are rarely sought after. The Undermountain folk eat fungus and other subterranean plant life found beneath Undermountain.

TYRIAN SLIME

Appearance: This monster resembles any number of other slimes. It is largely composed of bluish green amoeba-like cells that allow it to seep through dark, damp subterranean areas beneath Athas. These creatures, like most others of their kind, can ooze beneath door cracks and move about the ceilings and walls. This allows them to drop on unsuspecting prey.

Combat: When Tyrian slimes attack, they envelop their prey and dissolve it. A Tyrian slime has two types of secretions. The first is a fast-drying, sticky substance that entangles its prey into motionlessness. This secretion is the slime's usual first attack. The spraying of this secretion acts like a web spell but affects one target rather than an area. The victim must make a saving throw versus breath weapon. A successful save indicates that the victim has dodged the spray, while failure indicates that the victim is entangled and cannot move.

The second secretion is a highly corrosive acid. This acidic secretion dissolves metal at a surprising rate (chain mail in two rounds, plate mail in three; and magical armor adds one additional round per each plus to Armor Class). The acid is also caustic to flesh and bone. Bone is dissolved on contact and exposed flesh suffers 2-12 (2d6) points of damage per hit.

Habitat/Society: The Tyrian slime is a solitary, asexual creature. It reproduces by dividing itself and is occasionally encountered with its own divided offspring. The Tyrian slime lives to eat and reproduce.

Ecology: Dissolving all types of carrion and refuse, the Tyrian slime is sometimes tolerated as a sort of groundskeeper. However, because of its instinctual reactions, the Tyrian slime occasionally manages to catch neighboring creatures and would-be feeders off-guard, and attacks them.

UNDERMOUNTAIN FOLK (MINDHOME)

Telepathy — Sciences: tower of iron will; Devotions: ego whip, contact, ESP, send thoughts, sound link, taste link.

Habitat/Society: Mindhomes are communal groups, telepathically linked to each other. Those with similar views support one another, creating a unified mind. Those who find independent thought are outcasts from the communal group.

Ecology: If taken from the communal groups, individuals usually go into a cataleptic state and therefore are rarely sought after. The Undermountain folk eat fungus and other subterranean plant life found beneath Undermountain.

PRESERVER SPELLS

---

Preserver Spell Characteristics

Note: The game automatically calculates and displays the range and the area of effect. However, for those interested, statistics appear in the spell/psionics data.

Range

Range is the distance from the caster at which the spell effect occurs or begins. Some possibilities are:

- Ø: Can only be used on the spellcaster.
- Touch: Must physically touch the target.

Duration

This lists how long the magical energy of the spell lasts. Some possibilities are:

- Combat: Spell’s effects last for one combat.
- Instantaneous: Spell’s effects occur instantly.
- Special: Duration depends on spell’s use.

Area of Effect

This lists the creatures, volume, dimensions, weight, etc., that can be affected by the spell.

Saving Throw

This lists whether the spell allows the target a saving throw and explains the effect of a successful save. (A saving throw is a chance to avoid some or all of a spell’s effects.) Some possibilities are:

- Neg.: Spell has no effect if save is successful.
- 1/2: Character suffers half the normal amount of damage.
- None: No saving throw is allowed.

---

1 Elves are the only race that cannot be resurrected.
Psionic Characteristics

Note: The game automatically calculates and displays the range and the area of effect. However, for those interested, statistics appear in the spell/psionics data.

Power Score

Every psionic power is associated with one of the character’s basic attributes (Strength, Wisdom, etc.). The psionic power score equals the character’s score for that attribute, plus or minus a specific amount. In mathematical terms, the power score x 5% = the percent chance of successfully activating a power. A character always makes a power check when activating a power. You can check your character’s power score for a particular psionic power by pointing at the icon. The number next to the checkmark is your power score. Note that even with a power score of 20 it is possible to occasionally fail your power check.

Initial Cost

The number of PSPs (Psionic Strength Points) expended when the power is first used. A character failing a power check must expend half this many PSPs. PSPs are recovered at a rate of 3 per hour of walking. Resting, however, restores all expended PSPs. You can check a psionic power’s Psionic Point cost by pointing at the power’s icon. The number next to the “Pp” is the power’s cost.

Maintenance Cost

The number of PSPs expended to keep a power operating from the previous round. Maintaining a power does not require a new power check. If no maintenance cost is listed, the power cannot be maintained. The maintenance cost is canceled after combat on all maintainable psionic powers.

Range

The maximum distance from the psionicist (or psionics user) at which the power can have an effect. Some possibilities are:

- Ø: Can only be used on the psionicist.
- Touch: Must physically touch the target.

Area of Effect

The physical area or number of beings which the power affects. “Personal” means the power only affects the psionicist.

Psychokinesis

- Psychokinetic Sciences
  - Detonate
    - Power Score: Con -3
    - Initial Cost: 18
    - Maintenance Cost: na
    - Range: 60 yards
    - Area of Effect: 1 item, 8 cu. ft.

  Detonate allows a psionicist to harness the latent energy inside plants or inanimate objects, focus it, and release it explosively. This explosion inflicts 1 to 10 points of damage to any creature within a 10’ radius of the blast, and may disintegrate (turn to ashes) an item on the creature.

- Disintegrate
  - Power Score: Wis -4
  - Initial Cost: 40
  - Maintenance Cost: na
  - Range: 50 yards
  - Area of Effect: 1 item, 8 cu. ft.

  The disintegrate science reduces a creature to microscopic pieces and scatters them. The target must save versus death magic or be turned to ash.

- Project Force
  - Power Score: Con -2
  - Initial Cost: 10
  - Maintenance Cost: na
  - Range: 200 yards
  - Area of Effect: na

  Project force allows a psionicist to focus a psychokinetic “punch” against a target up to 200 yards away. This attack does 1 to 6 points of damage, plus the AC of the targeted creature.

- Psychokinetic Devotions
  - Ballistic Attack
    - Power Score: Con -2
    - Initial Cost: 5
    - Maintenance Cost: na
    - Range: 30 yards
    - Area of Effect: 1 item, 1 lb.

  Ballistic attack allows a character to throw a small object at extremely high (and deadly) speeds. A successful hit inflicts 1 to 6 points of damage.

  - Control Body
    - Power Score: Con -2
    - Initial Cost: 8
    - Maintenance Cost: 8/round
    - Range: 80 yards
    - Area of Effect: Individual

  Control body allows psychokinetic control of another person’s body. In effect, the victim becomes a marionette. The psionicist can force the body to fight on his or her behalf, but with a -6 penalty on attack rolls (using the victim’s own THAC0). Note: This is not effective outside combat.

  - Inertial Barrier
    - Power Score: Con -3
    - Initial Cost: 7
    - Maintenance Cost: 5/round
    - Range: Ø
    - Area of Effect: 3-yard diam.

  The inertial barrier is a defense. The psionicist creates a barrier of “elastic” air around him or herself and anyone else within 3 yards. This barrier halves damage from breath weapons, missiles, gas, acid, and ice storms.
PsychoMetabolic Sciences

Biofeedback
- Power Score: Con -2
- Initial Cost: 6
- Maintenance Cost: 3/round
- Range: Ø

Body Weaponry
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 9
- Maintenance Cost: 4/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

Body weaponry allows the psionicist to temporarily use one arm as if it were a weapon. The arm becomes as strong as wood or steel. However, the arm cannot imitate bows of any sort, nor can it become a weapon that the psionicist cannot normally use.

Cell Adjustment
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 5
- Maintenance Cost: Ø
- Range: Touch
- Area of Effect: Individual

Cell adjustment allows the psionicist to heal wounds and cure diseases. Cell adjustment cannot remove curses.

Displacement
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 6
- Maintenance Cost: 3/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

Displacement mimics the power of a displacer beast to project an image of itself up to three feet away. The image draws attacks that would otherwise be directed at the psionicist. The psionicist improves (reduces) his or her AC by 2 when displaced.

Enhanced Strength
- Power Score: Wis -3
- Initial Cost: Varies
- Maintenance Cost: Varies
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

Enhanced Strength allows the psionicist to increase his or her Strength to 24. The initial PSP cost is twice the number of added points; the cost to maintain the extra points per round equals the number of new points.

Absorb Disease
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 12
- Maintenance Cost: na
- Range: Touch
- Area of Effect: Individual

The power of absorbing disease allows the psionicist to transfer a disease (either natural or magical) from one creature to the psionicist, who can then cure it. The power cannot absorb curses.

Adrenalin Control
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 8
- Maintenance Cost: 4/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

With adrenalin control, the psionicist temporarily boosts his or her Strength from 1 to 6 points. All bonuses for extra Strength apply while the power is in effect.

Animal Affinity
- Power Score: Con -4
- Initial Cost: 15
- Maintenance Cost: 4/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

Animal affinity allows the psionicist to briefly grow claws that inflict 1 to 10 hit points of damage.

Energy Containment
- Power Score: Con -2
- Initial Cost: 10
- Maintenance Cost: na
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

When a psionicist is protected by energy containment, energy attacks such as electricity, cold, fire, heat, and sound have no effect.

Life Draining
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 11
- Maintenance Cost: na
- Range: Touch
- Area of Effect: Individual

Psionicists using the life draining science can “drain” up to 6 hit points from another creature. These hit points are temporarily added onto the psionicist’s total. The bonus points disappear after an hour, if they haven’t already been used.

PsychoMetabolic Devotions

Absorb Disease
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 12
- Maintenance Cost: na
- Range: Touch
- Area of Effect: Individual

The power of absorbing disease allows the psionicist to transfer a disease (either natural or magical) from one creature to the psionicist, who can then cure it. The power cannot absorb curses.

Adrenalin Control
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 8
- Maintenance Cost: 4/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

With adrenalin control, the psionicist temporarily boosts his or her Strength from 1 to 6 points. All bonuses for extra Strength apply while the power is in effect.

Flesh Armor
- Power Score: Con -3
- Initial Cost: 8
- Maintenance Cost: 4/round
- Range: Ø
- Area of Effect: Personal

With flesh armor, the psionicist temporarily transforms his or her own flesh into a type of armor based on his or her level. Because the armor becomes part of the body, the psionicist suffers no penalties for its use.
Telepathy

A number of psychic defenses are available as telepathic sciences or devotions. When characters are attacked, the game automatically activates whichever defense it deems appropriate for the situation. Defenses such as mind blank and tower of iron will be controlled by the game.

Telepathic Sciences

- Domination
  - Power Score: Wis -4
  - Initial Cost: Varies
  - Maintenance Cost: Varies
  - Range: 30 yards
  - Area of Effect: Individual
  - Domination allows a psionicist to take control of another's mind, forcing the victim to do as the psionicist wishes. The psionicist can then make use of the subject's abilities and powers. The PSP cost to establish and maintain domination depends on the subject. Note: This is not effective outside combat.

- Mass Domination
  - Power Score: Wis -6
  - Initial Cost: Varies
  - Maintenance Cost: Varies
  - Range: 40 yards
  - Area of Effect: Up to 5 creatures
  - Mass domination is identical to domination except that up to 5 creatures can be controlled at once. The PSP cost to establish and maintain mass domination depends on the subjects. Note: This is not effective outside combat.

  - Power Score: Wis -4
  - Initial Cost: 7
  - Maintenance Cost: na
  - Range: 50 yards
  - Area of Effect: Individual
  - A psychic crush is an attack on another psionicist's mind. The attack can inflict up to 6 hit points of damage.

- Superior Invisibility
  - Power Score: Int -5
  - Initial Cost: Varies
  - Maintenance Cost: 5/round
  - Range: 100 yards
  - Area of Effect: Personal
  - Superior invisibility makes the psionicist nearly undetectable. The user cannot be seen, makes no sound, and has no scent. Superior invisibility is dispelled if the psionicist attacks. The initial PSP cost varies depending on the number of creatures the psionicist is protecting against. Note: This is not effective outside combat.

- Tower of Iron Will
  - Power Score: Wis -2
  - Initial Cost: 6
  - Maintenance Cost: na
  - Range: 1 yard
  - Tower of iron will wards the psionicist against unwanted contact by other psionics. A psionicist can initiate one other psionic power while thus warded.
Telepathic Devotions

Ego Whip

Power Score: Wis -3  Initial Cost: 4  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: 40/80/120 yards  Area of Effect: Individual

Ego whip is another psionic mind attack. The psionicist attacks the target's ego, leaving it with feelings of inferiority. The target is stunned for 1 to 4 rounds.

Id Insinuation

Power Score: Wis -4  Initial Cost: 5  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: 60/120/180 yards  Area of Effect: Individual

Id insinuation is another psionic mind attack. The psionicist unleashes the target's id, pitting it in a moral struggle against the target's superego. The resulting moral dilemma paralyzes the target for 1 to 4 rounds. Note: This is not effective outside combat.

Intelllect Fortress

Power Score: Wis -3  Initial Cost: 4  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: 3-yd. radius

Intellect fortress is a telepathic defense against psionic attacks. All minds within the area of effect are also protected.

Mental Barrier

Power Score: Wis -2  Initial Cost: 3  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: Personal Mental barrier is another telepathic defense against psionic attacks, though it only protects the psionicist. Psionicists can use other psionic powers while protected by a mental barrier.

Mind Bar

Power Score: Int -2  Initial Cost: 6  Maintenance Cost: 4/round  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: Personal

Mind bar gives the psionicist 75% magic resistance to mind-affecting spells such as charm and feeblemind.

Mind Blank

Power Score: Wis -7  Initial Cost: 0  Maintenance Cost: 0  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: Personal

Mind blank is another telepathic defense against psionic attacks. The psionicist can initiate other psionic powers while protected by mind blank. Unlike the other defensive modes, mind blank costs nothing to maintain, so it is always "on."

Psionic Blast

Power Score: Wis -5  Initial Cost: 10  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: 20/40/60 yards  Area of Effect: Individual

A psionic blast tricks an opponent into believing that it has lost 80% of its hit points. When it loses 20% of its hit points, the creature falls unconscious.

Synaptic Static

Power Score: Int -4  Initial Cost: 15  Maintenance Cost: 10/round  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: 20/50/90 yards

Synaptic static interferes with psionic abilities, preventing all (including the psionicist who initiated the power) from using psionics until the effect ends.

Thought Shield

Power Score: Wis -3  Initial Cost: 1  Maintenance Cost: na  Range: Ø  Area of Effect: Personal

A thought shield protects the psionicist's mind from psionic attacks. The psionicist may initiate another psionic power while protected by a thought shield.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU HAVE A DEFECTIVE DISK

Each of our games undergoes extensive playtesting prior to its release. Through this process we hope to uncover and correct any errors in programming. However, due to the complex nature of our simulations, some program errors may go undetected until after publication. In addition to errors in the program, there are occasionally problems with the disk itself. We experience the industry standard of approximately a 3 to 5% failure rate of duplicated disks. Before assuming that a disk is defective, make sure to check your disk drive. Up to 95% of the disks returned to us as defective will run fine on our computer systems. Often the problem is with a disk drive that needs servicing for alignment, speed, or cleaning.

Should you have a defective disk, please return the disk only (keep all other parts of the game) to our Customer Support Department, along with a note describing the problem you have encountered. A replacement disk will be provided upon our receipt of the defective disk.

Should you uncover an error in the program, return both your game disk and any “save game” disks to our Customer Support Department. Please enclose a description of what was taking place in the game when the error occurred. Upon correction of the program error, we will return an updated disk to you.

Always make sure to include your name, address, and daytime telephone number with any correspondence. We will do our best to see that any problems are corrected as soon as possible.

QUESTIONS OR PROBLEMS?

Our main business number is (408) 737-6800. If you encounter disk or system related problems you can call our Technical Support Staff at (408) 737-6850 between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m., Pacific Time, Monday through Friday, holidays excluded. NO GAME PLAYING HINTS WILL BE GIVEN THROUGH THIS NUMBER. You can write to us for hints at: Hints, Strategic Simulations, Inc., 675 Almanor Avenue, Suite 201, Sunnyvale, CA 94086 (include a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply).

IBM COMPATIBLE COMPUTER INFORMATION:

Many of our games will work on IBM compatible computers. If you own an IBM compatible computer we suggest that you consult with our Technical Support Staff at (408) 737-6850 between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m., Pacific Time, Monday through Friday, (holidays excluded) to see if an SSI game you’re considering purchasing is compatible with your computer. If we have insufficient data to determine compatibility, you may wish to purchase the game and test for compatibility yourself. If the game proves to be incompatible, you may return it within 14 days with your dated receipt and we will refund your money. Or, if you return the game within 30 days, you may exchange the game for another.
